

46 Million Spent for Educational Facilities in Los Angeles County

By RICHARD RICHARDS
State Senator

State funds amounting to more than $46,000,000 have been expended in Los Angeles County in the past five years for the construction of educational facilities. This figure represents construction already completed since 1955.

More than $23,000,000 is being expended for facilities still under construction, and a further amount of close to $13,000,000 has been financed in plans for future construction.

Principal beneficiaries of this construction program have been the state colleges, whose rapid expansion is one of the many reflections of our tremendous growth in population.

CONSTRUCTION completed on the Kellogg-Voorhis Campus of the Steate Polytechnic College since 1957 amounts to more than $15,500,000. Facilities under construction to more than $4,500,000, and financed in plans to almost $5,000,000.

Construction at the Los Angeles State College of Applied Arts and Sciences has amounted to more than $14,500,000 since 1957. Facilities under construction represent close to $2,500,000 with more than $5,500,000 financed in plans.

SINCE 1957, a sum of $6,500,000 has been expended on construction at the San Fernando State College in Northridge. Facilities under construction represent more than $9,500,000, with a further expenditure coming to more than $1,500,000 financed in plans.

More than twice the total amount expended for these state college projects has gone into the over-all state construction program in Los Angeles County since 1955, but these educational facilities represent the largest single expenditure.

EVEN SO, we have not managed to keep up with our higher education needs in this County, and my bill to create the South Bay State College, which was enacted last March, is a further effort to keep up with the increase in our college-age population.

Present estimates are that the South Bay State College will be in operation by the fall of 1962, although in temporary quarters at the beginning.

PSI Appoints Dr. Stevenson Research Head

Dr. Alden Stevenson, physicist, will direct research of Pacific Semiconductors, Inc., it was announced here by Dr. J. W. Peterson, PSI vice president, research and development.

He succeeds Dr. Peterson, who has served as research director in a tentative capacity. Dr. Stevenson, in addition to his new responsibilities, will continue as materials research program director.

He joined the Thompson Ramo Wooldridge subsidiary four years ago after three years as development physicist with Minneapolis - Honeywell Regulator Co.

It is the sincere wish and desire of the property owners and residents of Lomita to express our admiration and congratulations to Mrs. Emilie Palmer for her success and accomplishments in breaking up Torrance's efforts to make an addition of Alondra to their already taken over city.

And it was furthermore a great surprise and relief to read where the Mayor of Torrance declares quote (If the people in Alondra do not want to annex to Torrance, that is their privilege. We are not trying imperiously to take in any territory.)

If the Mayor is honest in his above statement and sincere in living up to the same, then perhaps he could explain to the people here in Lomita why he is so very anxious to continue to take Lomita over against their will.

The property owners here in Lomita were forced to hire a lawyer and take the case to court in order to stop Torrance from grabbing up Lomita, and what's more, in spite of this, Torrance states that its officials are going to continue its fight to take over Lomita against the people's wishes.

We, here in Lomita cannot help but deduce from this, that Torrance is not broadminded in allowing Lomita to continue its freedom as it stated it was going to do in the case of Alondra take over try.

The grief and expense caused by Torrance through their attempted take over of Lomita is only one of several headaches and problems created here in Lomita by Torrance.

The property owners here in Lomita have been fighting for years the dirty issue of their unnecessary, loud roaring, dangerous, low flying, destructive, uninsured aircraft over their homes and places of business.

Their practice ring around the circle is an almost constant threat to our lives and property, as well as a nuisance and interference with our rightful use of our telephone service, radio and television programs.

Inasmuch as Torrance has ample space over their own territory, west of Pennsylvania Ave. and Crenshaw to do their practice flying, we here in Lomita would appreciate some serious consideration and action on this issue by Torrance's city officials.

May it also be remembered by Torrance officials and the Mayor that several serious plane accidents have taken place here in Lomita causing considerable damage which has never been replaced by Torrance, nor through any form insurance which these plane operators should carry.

Republicans Launch Nixon-Lodge Campaign in California

Official launching of an all-out co-ordinated Nixon-Lodge campaign which utilizes the working forces of the Republican Party and the independent Nixon clubs to the maximum extent from management down to the precinct level was completed in Los Angeles yesterday.

V. John Krehbiel, incoming chairman of the Republican State Central Committee, announced that he had appointed as his Nixon-Lodge campaign chairman Thomas P. Pike, former Assistant Secretary of Defense. Early this year Pike was appointed Vice President Nixon's campaign chieftain for California.

AT THE SAME time Krehbiel and Pike jointly announced that Barnard Brennan, attorney long active in organizing winning campaigns in California, had accepted their appointment as campaign coordinator.

"With the official party organization and the Nixon campaign forces designating the same leadership we will insure a completely co-ordinated and effective campaign with plenty of accomplishment and a minimum of duplication," Krehbiel explained.

Brennan's career began with Governor Earl Warren, continuing through the Knowland, Nixon and Kuchel senatorial campaigns, and included the successful Eisenhower-Nixon campaigns. He will correlate Party activities with those of the Nixon organization, Pike and Krehbiel said. Thus the Nixon campaign management will include H. C. (Chad) McClellan, Southern California chairman; Valley Knudsen, vice chairman; and Mrs. Cecil Kenyon, Mrs. Virginia Savell, Patrick J. Hillings, and Harvey Mydland as executive committee members. National committee-woman Mrs. Patricia Hitt and Pike, Krehbiel and Brennan will be ex-officio member in addition to their statewide campaign duties.

California political campaigns have I seen such an enthusiastic army of volunteer workers ready to take to the field," Brennan said in accepting the Krehbiel and Pike appointment. "The volunteer Nixon forces, combined with the volunteer Republican groups, will ring the doorbells, man the headquarters, and distribute literature in a door-to-door effort that means certain victory for the Nixon-Lodge slate."

Brennan said that between the two groups he anticipated more than 75 community Nixon-Lodge headquarters would be opened in Los Angeles County alone.
